IMPRESSED WITH THE ADA NORMAL

Mr. Davis of Norman, who is here as an expert witness in the Jackson case, is one of the most enthusiastic visitors the city has had in some time. Wednesday evening he took a walk to the Normal and after taking a look at the building and grounds and had seen the magnificent view down the valley, he said to the News reporter:

"I don't believe any man could see what you have there and vote for the abolition of the school for the sake of the two or three cents annually it costs him to keep it up. Put me down for the Ada Normal every time. Another thing, I consider the view from the Normal across the valley the most magnificent I have seen in the state. Fort Gibson is the only place that will at all compare with it."

Jury in Tremont Case Disagreed.

Chickasha, Okla., July 10.—The jury in the case of John Tremont, charged with complicity in the murder of Sherman Woodward, being unable to agree was discharged by the court late Tuesday. The jury had been out since Saturday.

Tremont was charged jointly with the murder with the wife of deceased, Mrs. Ada Woodward, and Mrs. Emma Rivers. Mrs. Woodward confessed to the crime and implicated the others. She said that Woodward was killed by administering rat poison. It was claimed that the motive for the murder was a life insurance policy held by Woodward.

THREE YOUNG WOMEN DROWN IN BLUE

Durant, Ok., July 10.—Three young women, Miss Alice Spell of this city and Misses Geneva Jones and Annie Halsell of Bennington, Ok., were drowned last night one mile from the mouth of the Blue River. When the bodies were recovered this morning Miss Jones and Miss Halsell were clasped in each other's arms. The news of the drowning reached here today.

They were with a large fishing party and were out in a boat with the father of Annie Halsell when the boat capsized and they were all thrown into the water. None of them could swim and the three girls went down before help could reach them. Mr. Halsell was reached just as he was going under the last time.

Miss Halsell was a granddaughter of Representative Halsell of Durant, and Miss Spell was a daughter of County Treasurer J. V. Spell of Bryan County.

With the Boxers.

One-Round Davis and Barney Williams are to clash in Buffalo on July 15.

Al Palzer has accepted an offer to box George Carpentier, the French champion, in Paris next fall.

Under the Kiley law Montana receives 10 per cent. of the receipts of all boxing shows that are pulled off in the state.

Jim Coffey the Irish heavyweight who did considerable boxing in New York and Philadelphia, has returned to his home in Roscommon, Ireland.

PROSPERITY FOR ONE IS PROSPERITY FOR ALL

By Holland.

If you are a farmer the value of your farm depends on the value of the adjoining farm, and the value of both depends on the value of property in the nearest village or town. Farms near prosperous towns are always more valuable than those near dead or dying settlements. And this is true without regard to the fertility of the soil.

The farmer depends on the town just as the town depends for prosperity on the farmer. Their destinies are interlinked; their interests are common. What hurts one hurts the other. Poor crops will affect the city resident who does not even raise radishes, and depressed business affairs affect the farmer who depends on soil weather and muscle for his living.

Money sent to mail order houses helps to turn thriving towns into dead hamlets. It thereby depreciates the value of farm land. It decreases the population of the towns that most directly use the products of the farm. It lowers the price for butter and eggs, for chickens and for fruits and vegetables.

So, Mr. Farmer, if you deal with a mail order house in a distant city you are taking a course that takes from the value of your farm, that renders it less desirable as a place of residence and less productive of profit. You can't follow a system that injures your neighbors without being compelled to shoulder some of the expense yourself. Take the safer course and spend your money where you make it.

Miss Chapman Honored.

Mrs. W. C. Duncan entertained a small party of Miss Dorothy's friends at her home Monday evening in honor of Miss Eloise Chapman of Bonham, Tex., who is at present a guest at her home.

On concluding the entertainment at the home Mrs. Duncan escorted the guests to the picture shows much to their delight.

Following were the ones present: Miss Mildred Reed, Will Tom Truitt, Eloise Chapman, May Miller, Dorothy Duncan, Warner Hoover, Jewel Hays, Arthur Scobey, Wesly Chaney and Merle Sears.

COMMITTEES WILL MEET SUNDAY THIRD DAY OF JACKSON TRIAL

Meeting called to order by Chairman M. C. Wilson with the following members present, M. C. Wilson, T. W. Robison, L. A. Ellison, E. S. Haraway, Mrs. Geo. L. Kice, Mrs. M. F. Films Vividly Tell Prisoner of Zenda Story.

"The Prisoner of Zenda," with James K. Hackett in the double role of the true and the false king of the fanciful Ruritania, containing all the thrill of the original drama, was produced yesterday afternoon in motion pictures by the Famous Players' Film Company at a private view of the Lyceum theatre. The production will shortly be opened to the public, and it is safe to predict that it will be one of the biggest of all hits in the history of the film play.

It was a fit coincidence that "The Prisoner of Zenda," originally made famous by Mr. Hackett at the old Lyceum Theatre on Fourth avenue and Twenty-fourth street, under the management of Daniel Frohman, should have had its initial presentation in Mr. Frohman's new lyceum theatre. It was under his direction that the films were taken.

Edwin S. Porter, technical director of the Famous Players' Company, and Adolph Zukor, its president, all had their share in making this series of reels the unqualified success it has proved to be.

In a little talk to the audience Mr. Frohman expressed his views of the field of the motion picture and of what it would do toward preserving the art of the great actors of the day.—New York Evening Journal, Feb. 19, 1913.

DEFENSE INTRODUCES EVIDENCE TO SUPPORT SUICIDE THEORY AND ALIBI FOR JACKSON

The defense in the Jackson case is based on the theory of suicide. After the character witnesses had completed their testimony witnesses were placed on the stand to support the contention.

When court convened this morning it developed that Walter Harmon, a witness for the defense had been arrested about mid-night on a charge of perjury, it being alleged that he swore to having a conversation with Johnny Pirtle in December, 1911, more than three months after his death. Defense asked the court to release him but Judge McKeown ruled that he had no jurisdiction unless habeas corpus proceedings were instituted. The matter was taken up with Justice Brown and witness released on bond. Harmon was then put on the stand. He said he had made a mistake concerning the date of conversation with Pirtle.

Cleve Hyden: Told of difficulty between Pirtle and marshal of Stratford after it was over Pirtle said he would as soon as die as to live anyway.

Jesse Walker: Conversation with Pirtle; Pirtle drunk; said he thought he would kill himself; mother had married again; had promised him she would not if he stayed with her; had nothing against Jackson.

Milton Blackburn: Heard Pirtle say he was likely to be killed and had good notion to kill himself.

E. B. Forrest: Saw body of Pirtle; described position when found; saw bottle of whiskey near hand; saw Jackson day before body was found; was between 4 and 5 p. m.; was coming in jog trot; talked a few minutes; nothing unusual in demeanor; was riding iron gray horse.

Isaac Polson: Saw Jackson day before Pirtle's body was found; nothing unusual in manner.

G. A. Truitt: Made map of section where body was found; explained its features.

Mrs. Mollie Roberts: Jackson passed house of witness day before body was found; was going north; between 11 or 12; had heard Pirtle say he liked Jackson and had rather his mother had married him than any man he knew.

Mrs. Julia Jackson: Mother of defendant saw him day before Pirtle's body was found; was at home of witness between 9 and 10 a. m.; stayed about half an hour.

Florence Jackson: Sister of Cato Jackson; saw him day before body was found; was about 9 and 10 a. m. riding iron gray pony; stayed at house about half an hour.

Carrie Jackson: Sister of defendant; corroborated witness preceding.

Whit Hyden, Jr.: Saw Jackson at Stratford day before body was found; between 2 and 3 o'clock.

Morris Bayless: Saw Jackson day before body was found; was in bank at Stratford; did not recall hour of day.

Mrs. Jane Usery: Saw Charley Thompson day before body was found was picking cotton; Pirtle drunk day before disappearance.

W. C. Sloan: Knows Charley Thompson, worked in Roff oil mill with him; Thompson said last time he saw Pirtle he came to field for settlement; explained he was not quite sure about it; Thompson said if he could sell team would leave country and was a witness in Jackson case.

This afternoon Mrs. D. Hall was the first witness called. Was at home until 1 o'clock on day Pirtle disappeared; heard two shots between 10:30 and 11 o'clock; shots came from southwest; body found northeast.

D. Hall: Day before body was found took load of cane to mill; saw Mr. Poe and Mr. Hurley on way home; saw Johnny Pirtle's horse at Hurley's; was between 10 and 10:30; heard 2 gun shots in southeast direction; heard no shots from northeast direction; Thompson at house of witness when body was found; never heard Thompson say he passed near body night before; Jackson and Pirtle got along well together.

Mrs. Rube Burnett: Grandmother of Johnny Pirtle; heard gun fire about 10:35 morning he disappeared; heard Johnny whoop, then heard two more shots; Johnny always spoke well of Jackson.

Mrs. Nancy Hurley: Was with Mrs. Bankus at Mrs. Renfro's washing when body was found; heard the signal gun.

Wallace Thomas: Got Pirtle's pistol from his mother several days after his death; had no shells for it; next time loaded Jackson got shells and witness loaded it; gave it to Bud Pirtle three weeks later; was a .38-calibre; don't know whether he got a .45 or not.

Geo. Hurley: Pirtle's horse and

DAVIDSON-CHAPMAN

Monday Mr. George Davidson and Miss Marjean Chapman sprung a surprise on many of their friends by being married at Kansas City.

The bride is a niece of Mrs. Claud Rodarmel and was a student in the Ada normal, where she held high rank as a student. She is deservedly popular with a large circle of friends at Ada made during her sojourn here. Mr. Davidson grew to manhood here and has always been a young man of steady habits and industrious disposition. He recently went into the jewelry business at Allen and is meeting with the success that a man of his high character merits.

They will meet July 24 to put the finishing touches on the work.

Ready for Reliability Tour.

Distance—1,233.1 miles. Actual running time—Eight days. From Minneapolis to the Glacier National Park, Montana. Night stops and distances between them in miles—Alexandria, Minn., 144.41; Fargo, N. D., 126.8; Glasgow Mont., 163.8; Haxre, Mont., 156.1; Glacier Park, Mont., 178 miles.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 10.—The annual national reliability tour of the American Automobile Association will start from this city at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Today the final preparations for the run were completed. The prospective participants saw that their machines were in perfect shape and examined their equipment to see that it was complete and in readiness for the long run. This afternoon the officials supplied the entrants with numbers for their cars and badges for themselves, guests and drivers.

The route of the tour this year is not so long nor will there be so many participants as in the old days of the Glidden tours. Nevertheless, the tour promises to be one of the most successful and attractive since the long automobile runs were first inaugurated.

Before it is ended the contestants will have a journey of over 1,200 miles that will take them through some of the most interesting country of the Northwest. There will be eight days of traveling, and, with the stop-overs, the end will come July 19 at the famous Glacier National Park in Montana.

No expense or effort is being spared to make the trip a most enjoyable one. The comforts and conveniences en route will be far more numerous than on the similar tours in the past. In order to insure adequate eating and sleeping accommodations for the contestants, Louis W. Hill, of the Great Northern Railway, has equipped a hotel train which will run just ahead of the motorists, stopping at the noon controls so they can have access to the dining cars, and parking at the night controls, so that the automobilists can occupy the sleeping cars at night.

The first day's run tomorrow will take the tourists to Alexandria, Minn. It is 144 miles, one of the medium runs of the tour, the shortest of which is 123 miles and the longest 178 miles.

The route from this city will follow the Northwest Trail to Fargo, where a northward turn will be made to Grand Forks, and then west, following the general line of the Great Northern Railway, through North Dakota and Montana to Havre. From Havre the motorists will proceed nearly direct across western Montana to Glacier National Park which will be the formal end of the tour. After running into and through the park the tourists will visit Kalispell, Mont., to attend a meeting of the Montana Good Roads Congress.

The tour will be finished literally in a blaze of glory. On the night of the finish there will be a brilliant illumination of the mountains. Many men will be stationed on the mountain peaks along the range just back of the log hotel at Glacier Park Station, and at a given signal they will touch off great quantities of red, white and blue Roman fire. This illumination panoramic mountain spectacle will be flashed upon the approaching motorists when the pilot car of the tourists is crossing the Montana prairie within forty miles of the range.

After reaching Glacier park, numerous side trips will be taken to places of interest in that section. Indian reservations will be visited and tribal ceremonies witnessed. The tourists will be encouraged to return over the roads through Missoula and Butte (or Helena) to Livingston and Gardner, where they may leave their cars and make stage trips in the Yellowstone National Park.

The Melting of Molly

My Vindication

"Not Guilty."

This was the unanimous verdict of a jury of twelve men in the district court of Oklahoma county on each of the charges set forth in the accusation against me.

I have emerged from a fight covering five months, during which time I drew the fire of discharged employees, disgruntled politicians and a clique composed of a few physicians ambitious to fill my position or see it filled by one of their choice.

From the beginning I demanded a fair, open hearing, with the privilege of meeting my accusers face to face. The lower house of the legislature refused me that American right. Then I realized that I was to pay the penalty for being associated with a state administration not to their liking. Before their report of criticism was rendered I asked the County Attorney of Oklahoma County to investigate the claims of my enemies telling him to expect perjured testimony, if I was guilty I deserved prosecution, but if I was innocent the perjuries should be punished. I asked that immunity be not given either to myself or those who testified against me. This request was not heeded. The county attorney, whose political affiliation is the opposite of mine, extended immunity to those against whom I had warned.

I then asked for immediate trial. The case was heard on its merits. Technicalities were not employed. I was either wrongly or rightly accused and a jury was to decide. There were four separate and distinct counts or accusations, to be met. An adverse verdict on any one of them meant the surrender of my office.

The jury heard the same witnesses that had testified against me behind the closed doors of the legislative "probe," but it likewise heard their admissions brought out on cross-examination. The jury heard the prosecution's futile effort to corroborate this testimony; heard the chief accuser admit his own guilt and then take refuge behind the immunity cloak held in waiting.

In view of these facts, in view of the incessant fight that has been made on the state department of health by those who had a personal interest at stake, or a grievance to satisfy, I feel that the unanimous verdict of "not guilty" as rendered last Friday should cause honest people to dispel any hastily formed opinion of me or my work, and to terminate for all time the activities of those who follow ambition, political as well as professional, to the very destruction of their fellow man.

STRAY TOPICS FROM LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

New York, July 5:—Everyone has heard the old joke about the English taking New York from the Dutch and the Jews taking it from the English. The Americans don't seem to figure in it at all. And, alas, this would seem to be pretty near to the truth. The figures show that of the 2,500,000 inhabitants of the Borough of Manhattan less than 15 per cent. are native whites of American parentage.

A palatial hospital for dumb animals is to be erected in this city by the Women's League for Animals. It will contain an operating room for dogs, padded cells for horses with blind stagers, apartments for sick cats, a kitchen for preparing special food for animal patients and a roof garden or paddock where animals recovering from sickness or operations may have the benefit of fresh air and sunshine.

The subway thief is the latest addition to the 157 varieties of petty crooks who make the big town their field of operations. He may be properly styled the "subway hat thief," in that his specialty is the lifting of hats, especially panamas, from the heads of unsuspecting passengers. He does not operate in the trains, but on the station platforms, and steals the rats by reaching through into the car just as the train is getting under way leaving the station.

Speaking of thieves here is another one. On the excellent authority of one Isidore Racer, $5,000,000 is a conservative estimate of the value of goods stolen annually in recent years by street thieves in New York. "Jazz" knows whereof he speaks, for he has been the king pin of the bunch that has done this form of stealing. In addition to the operation of a "fence" he has conducted a school where young boys were taught to steal from trucks, piers and railroad depots. Recently he was "caught with the goods," so he followed the prevailing fashion of revealing all he knew of the "system" and the alleged connection between the crooks and the police.

An iron and glass building that is soon to stick its head up among the skyscrapers in lower Broadway will have the distinction of being America's thinnest office building. It will be five feet wide by 100 feet deep, will contain three stories and several commodious offices. The building will stand on the corner of Broadway and Worth streets. The building site was reduced to its present emaciated dimensions through the change made more than forty years ago in the property lines on Worth street. To the uninformed it would seem that, with a structure only five feet wide, the builders will have to revert to the old custom of having the stairways on the outside.

The recent removal of the little white cottage in which Edgar Allan Poe wrote "The Raven" and where he spent the greater part of his brief but happy wedded life, aroused great interest, and in many instances strong criticism on the part of admirers of America's poet fictionist. The cottage stood on the Kingsbridge road in the Borough of the Bronx and was removed from the original site to a new foundation prepared for it in Poe Park, distant about two blocks. The park covers about two blocks and the cottage was placed at the northern end, preserving in all the details its appearance on the previous site.

provisions of the bill became known. Under the present tariff schedule the cut gems are dutiable at 10 per cent and there is no duty on the rough product. The Underwood bill provides for a duty of 20 per cent. on cut and 10 percent. on uncut gems. The new York gem merchants, working through their association, are fighting for a retention of their present schedule. Meanwhile they are bringing in unusually large quantities of the precious stones in order to escape possible payment of the higher duties proposed.

Colonel Roosevelt has announced his plans for the coming summer and fall and thereby set at rest the rumors that he intended to take an active part in the approaching municipal campaign. The schedule as announced shows that he will be away from New York during practically the whole of the campaign. Next week the colonel, with his sons, Archie and Quentin, will start for a two months' camping trip in the Grand Canyon of Arizona. When he returns he will spend a week at Oyster Bay, but this time will be taken up preparing for the trip to the Argentine Republic, which he will make early in October. It is now announced that in addition to his visit to Argentine he will probably extend his trip to Brazil and Chile.

There will be fifteen divisions to exhibit, covering practically every detail of progress of the negro here in the last fifty years, including the distribution of the negro races throughout the world and the growth of negro population here; vital statistics and physical developments; occupations, industries, and agriculture; inventions by negroes, progress in education, religious work, civil status, political power, home life, business advance and social uplift; work of colored women, work of negro artists, collection of negro literature, architectural work, and music, composed and performed by negroes.

The death of Mrs. Caroline B. Martin, which occurred a few days ago in the New Jersey State Hospital for the Insane, recalls one of the strongest cases that the officials of this vicinity have ever been called to solve. This is the so-called Okey Snead murder case. It was on November 23, 1909, that Mrs. Okey Snead, aged 24, was found dead in a bathtub in a house in East Orange, N. J. It was at first believed to be a case of suicide, but official investigation led to the arrest of Mrs. Martin and her sister, Miss Virginia O. Wardlaw, aunt of the victim. All of those concerned "belonged" to a proud old southern family that had sunk from affluence to poverty. When they first came north they resided for a time at the Waldorf-Astoria in this city, but with the giving out of their funds they sought obscure lodgings, first in Brooklyn and later in some of the New Jersey suburbs. Their life was enshrouded in deepest mystery. From ment that would shed light on the case. The only motive that could be assigned for the murder was a desire to secure Mrs. Snead's insurance. Miss Wardlaw committed suicide in jail during the trial. Mrs. Martin was convicted on a plea of manslaughter and sentenced to seven years in prison. Subsequently she was adjudged insane and taken to the time of their arrest on a charge of murder both Mrs. Martin and Miss Wardlaw declined to make any statement where she died.
